Imported Ramie Discussed

By Dr. R. V. Allison

Is ramie alive?

The recent visit of Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Cladas Pinto of Sao Paulo may prove to be a quite auspicious occasion for those of us who are still concerned, in one way or another, with the future of the wonderful of all fiber crops, Mr. Cladas is Sales Manager for one of the largest ramie processing companies in Brazil with a present capacity of some 140 tons of yarn and 6 to 7 hundred thousands of yards of fabrics per month after having only recently increased the capacity of the plant by 50 per cent.

The principal reason for the visit of Mr. Cladas to Florida and to New York was to explore the possibilities of an exporting market in the United States for ramie in any of the three forms in which his company is now prepared to send it in, namely: (a) as finished fiber in silver form either stapled at one predetermined length or unstapled; (b) as yarns of predetermined specifications; or (c) as fabrics of extraordinary beauty which are being woven each day in such extensive yardages, and which vary from their shirtings to quite firm suitings and which have the immediate appearance of the super-fine that they really are.

Mr. Cladas and his wife were pleased to find quite an abundance of evidence relating to an expanding need for this remarkable fiber in many uses, especially the quality produced by his company. Thus, at the moment a fairly heavy all-ramie canvas or duck — No. 8 cotton equivalent — for use in the manufacture of sport shoes, tennis, basketball, boating, etc. — is receiving a considerable amount of thought and effort at the industrial level as the answer to the poor service against weathering offered by the conventional cotton type.

While in Belle Glade Mr. and Mrs. Cladas were guests of Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Allison. They were very much interested in work with ramie that has been underway at the Everglades Experiment Station and visited briefly with Director Forney.

Of particular interest to them was the "In-Line" method of degumming ramie which has been under study for some time, a procedure that gives maximum separation of the fiber in about 7 minutes due to mechanical action on the material while in process. This (Continued On Page Two)

Glades Escapes Florida Freeze

Florida vegetables suffered varying degrees of damage from sub-freezing temperatures and cold winds the morning of February 29 in all areas except the Everglades and the Lower East Coast, according to G. Norman Rose of the Florida Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

In Central and South Florida, effects of low temperatures were moderated by air movement, which prevented frost from forming, and a high level of moisture from heavy rains that occurred February 22 and 23. Strong winds in gusts 40-50 MPH were reported in the Myers-Immakalee area.

In Ft. Myers-Immakalee damage was light to heavy. Light leaf and some fruit damage occurred in the Naples sector and around Ft. Myers. Tomatoes sustained little damage, but there was scattered heavy damage to cucumbers, peppers, and melons around the north of Immokalee.

Temperatures fell as low as 28 degrees in the Everglades, but cold and wind damage appears to be minor. On the Lower East Coast, growth was slowed and some reduction in quality may occur, but there were no losses except for a few tomato plants in the Ft. Pierce area. Homestead escaped without significant damage although one location reported temperatures as low as 32 degrees.

Harvest in South Florida was delayed by rains last week.

De Young Promises Help For Glades

In an exclusive statement to the Belle Glade Herald, Robert C. DeYoung, State Representative, has declared he will take definite action against the problem of peddlers selling merchandise to migrant workers just off state right-of-ways near labor camps in the Belle Glade area.

Representative DeYoung said, "I understand that sometimes as many as 50 peddlers park their autos near migrant workers' camps on pay days, just off the state road right-of-ways."

DeYoung also stated that in addition to the dent in the Glades economy as a result of these activities, he was concerned that the merchandise might be stolen, and to the best of his knowledge the state sales taxes were not being collected on sales.

"If I am re-elected, I propose to vigorously investigate what kind of legislation is required to stop this practice. If there are laws in existence now prohibiting these activities, I will press the issue and see that they are strictly enforced," DeYoung added.

DeYoung understands that the peddlers may now be feeling pressures, because there have been attempts to rent warehouse space somewhere in Belle Glade.

One hundred and fifty six students are coming to town. The students are members of one of 3 cast of the Up With People show touring the United States.

The cast will perform 6 times in three days. Evening performances on Tuesday and Wednesday will cost $2.50 and $3.50, less $1 for students, and will be held at Belle Glade High School.

The other four shows will be presented at Belle Glade, Lake Shore, Pahokee, and Clewiston High Schools.

"The cast was touring Florida and last Friday about 25 interested guests were invited to the regular Rotary meeting to discuss bring the Up With People show to town," said Bob Lee, a driving force behind the Belle Glade presentation.

Representatives from the show attended the meeting and "the kids sold themselves," Lee said.

The cost of moving the company here with all of their equipment will come from the revenue of the two evening performances. Housing is being provided in homes for the students stay here.

They will arrive on Monday afternoon when they will meet their host at the Civic Center at a Coke reception being given by the Chamber of Commerce.

Hosts are asked to provide Monday night dinner for the students and breakfast on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Thursday morning the cast will again pack up and continue their Florida tour.

Re Smith and John Causey, in charge of housing for the students, report that arrangements have already been made for 50 of the students and is in contrast to several hours required by static processes in common use at the present time, whether of an "open cook" nature or under light pressure. At the same time it has given the highest "yield" and very definitely offers the further advantage of maximum mechanization in the over-all servicing of the operation, especially if the fiber (whether ramie or kenaf) is properly stapled as it leaves the field Harvester-Deocicator of the future. They also marveled at the small area of ramie at the Experiment Station planted in October, 1949 and still in good stand and development without any rehabilitation or other treatment in the meantime, and, in fact, rather poor cultural attention in general.

Mr. Caldas had with him a large number of all-ramie fabrics and yarns and was pleased over the opportunity to have a beautifully embroidered piece as a wedding gift for Governor and Mrs. Kirk as coming from her most recent homeland, Brazil. It was gift-wrapped for the purpose at

THE FISHING REPORT

Wind and cold weather hampered fishing in the Belle Glade area of Lake Okechobee again over the past few days. Only a few fishermen decided to try their luck, as the wind made fishing almost impossible.

Charles Corbin, while guiding a party from Texas on Friday, brought in 80 specks using live minnows.

Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Carmichael of Verbena, Alabama took 20 specks on Monday using live minnows. One of these specks weighed in at 1 1/2 pounds.

Mr. Parker from Metropolis, Ill., brought in one bass on Monday using live shiners. A few other fishermen reported small catches of speckled perch, but no one brought in the limit over the weekend.

Everyone is hoping the bad weather is over and our beautiful Florida sunshine will return within the next few days, making for more pleasant fishing.

Slits Fish Camp

J. Mark Fish Camp reported fishing rather slow, but quite a few fishermen braved the cold weather last week and weekend.

Last Wednesday Col. Ralph Munroe from Atlanta, Ga., brought in three bass weighing up to 6 1/2 lbs.

During the week others fishing were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fancher from Summerville, N. J., caught 9 bass up to 7 3/4 lbs.

Mr. John Bourke from Ft. Thomas, Ky., and Thomas McGucken of Cincinnati got the limit in bass.

Fred Thomas, local man brought in the limit in Specks on Friday.

Atlanta Braves, some of them, fishing each day, came out after practice to try their luck, catching 3 to 4 lb. bass.

Among those fishing were Dennis McMaster, Wade Langston, Don Reed and Upshaw. Whitton Wyatt caught his biggest bass a 7 1/4 pounder.

Clint Courtney and Tony Clinger, Marion Johnson, photographer and Lee Waldron, public relations man for the Braves also caught nice strings.

Thought of the Week

Second thoughts they say are best—Shakespeare

The Honeymoon Is Over —

Governor Kirks that is! But the romance between the State senate and house candidates and the people of the Glades is just beginning again. Those candidates that survive the primaries will suddenly find that the ride in from the coast is not quite as far as it appeared before, and that the problems of the Glades have taken on new importance. Whether this interest continues after the man reaches office is something all of us must consider before we vote on March 28th.

Party loyalty is fine, but to vote for a man just because he is a Republican or Democrat with no thought as to his personal qualifications is folly. You must remember that the candidate you elect is the one that you must live with during his term in office. Don't allow yourself to be victimized by party loyalty. Evaluate each candidate on his own merits, but above all VOTE.

The Ugliest Americans

Americans who travel abroad these days — and what with overseas military service there are millions who have had this experience — are painfully aware of a small minority of horrid individuals who display an offensive image of the United States and who offend our country's best friends. They have come to be known as "ugly Americans."

Not all "ugly Americans" are loud, demanding tourists who complain noisily about hotel services. Indeed a tragic incident in recent weeks reveals with crystal clarity that the ugliest Americans of all have posts of influence in the White House executive offices and the Department of State.

The reference here is to those top officials who made the decision to insult a good friend of the United States and to deny to American fighting men well-deserved recreation in a friendly port near the island capital of Pretoria. During the recent space program, American military aircraft flew from South Africa to give protective cover way of the Cape of Good Hope was scheduled for refueling at Cape Town in order to save the American taxpayers a quarter of a million dollars. Refueling a warship in a foreign port requires the assent of the foreign country involved. Giving assent is a courtesy extended by a friendly nation. Few countries in Africa today would grant such permission to a U. S. naval vessel returning from combat duty off Vietnam. The majority of African states have consistently condemned U. S. actions in Southeast Asia. They will not permit American military aircraft or ships to use their airfields or ports.

South Africa, on the contrary, has a long record of co-operation with and support of U. S. efforts in the cold war. American naval vessels have regularly enjoyed the use of fueling and repair facilities in South Africa. In addition, South Africa allows the U. S. to maintain a military and space tracking station near its inland capital of Pretoria. During the recent space program, American military aircraft flew from South Africa to give protective cover in the case astronauts had to splash down in southern waters.

Despite this record of friendly assistance, the White House and State Department bowed to the demands of "civil rights" extremists and a bloc of ultra-liberal congressmen who try to present South Africa as a bigger menace to the world than Red China or the Soviet Union.

Orders were dispatched from Washington, saying that sailors aboard the FDR were not to be permitted ashore. This insulting order is the ultimate in "ugly American" behavior. It was as though one accepted an invitation to dine, and then refused to shake hands with one's host.

What the war-weary crew of the Franklin D. Roosevelt thought about their denial of shore liberty is on record. One crew member wrote to the press as follows:

"Here we are, a fighting ship, returning from the war. We had hit the first port where the people were not only humane and hospitable, but truly interested in the American people as people, not just so many American dollars. For the first time in my life, I was truly ashamed to call myself an American. How in the name of heaven can 35 congressmen and a few civil rights workers, the United States government, insult the United States in Africa?"

The Johnson administration, in bowing to the demands of the "civil rights" extremists and ultra-liberals, may have scored a gain in that quarter. But the United States has suffered a loss in several respects. A friendly people have had their friendship thrown back in their faces. Certainly, the U. S. has not so many real friends in the world today that it can afford to reject those who seek only to be good friends, and ask for no special handouts. The leaving in the United States is not convinced that it can scuttle the security interests of the United States in Africa by crying "civil rights."

Viewed overall, the U. S. has suffered a major loss in the cold war. South Africans who are willing to stand alongside the United States on Vietnam and other crucial issues see that their good will is not appreciated. It is only logical to conclude that advocates of a De Gaulle-type neutralism may find a hearing in South Africa. If this is the case, the United States will be seriously handicapped. Having a good friend at the strategically vital Cape of Good Hope is enormously important to the United States. The White House and State Department, in order to achieve cheap political success with minority groups, has endangered the long-range safety of the American Republic.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellows at the country store Saturday night was paying their respects to the newspaper perfessor. Over the years they've fixed over thing else up and I figured sooner or later they would get you newspaper fellers straightened out.

What bring this item up was Ed Doolittle fetching a clipping to the meeting he had cut out of some paper. The storekeeper ain't bought Ed Doolittle black and yet Ed Doolittle to paste it up on the wall behind the cheese box again. It was one of them wife stories from a paper in San Francisco named the "Cul-Bulletin." Here's what it said:

"Our Junior and Senior High serve a splendid hot meal for 35 cents without costing the taxpayers anything. Thanks to a Federal subsidy."

Ed claimed the reporter who wrote that stuff had ought to be put in jail on three charges. Contempt of common sense, tearing false witness against the taxpayer, and being ignorant far beyond the call of duty.

Zeke Grubbs was of the opinion newspapers was getting a little lax in a number of ways and it was causing the public to get misled in things. For instance, said Zeke, when we insist on hate riots in the street was known as lawbreaking. But now the newspapers has got to calling it civil disobedience. Zeke figured when some body stole everything in a store and hid and then burnt it down they ought to be some other name for it besides "civil disobedience."

And Josh Clodhopper had a few words to say about you newspaper fellers. Incidental, Mister Editor, Josh has got so tired of resting since starting getting his Social Security that he's got too lazy to work and is reading the papers a heap more than he used to. But Josh reported he had saw where they was coming on the market with a pill that would cure a hangover. He said he knew a few fellers that as soon as they got over one hangover tied on another one. But it was Bug Hookum that put the stopper in the jug. He said he was reading this piece about some chicken holding a convention in Wisconsin and the reporter said you could "hear the rattle of skirts" all over the place. Bug said everybody knowed skirts nowadays wasn't long enough to "rattle." Personal, Mister Editor, I wouldn't make no comment on account of you might catch printing my little piece.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Radio Controlled Tractor Studied

(Editors Note: This material was condensed for the Herald from a report in the monthly Agricultural Engineers Journal by Joe E. Clayton, engineer with the Sugar Cane Laboratory here.)

A University of Nebraska Experiment Station soon will be field testing a system of radio controls for the farm tractor — to take over routine tillage tasks.

Such automatically controlled planting and cultivation units were among the innovations outlined in a panel discussion sponsored by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers Power and Machinery Division at a recent annual meeting. The Nebraska unit, described by J. D. Picton, former University of Nebraska agricultural engineering assistant professor, had an electromagnetic guidance system to detect the location of a current-carrying wire.

The control signal, in the form of a voltage pulse from a sensing coil, hopefully can be used to achieve automatic control of many machine functions.

England has also done work on an automatic tractor. Mr. Peter G. Finn-Kelsey, Consulting Engineer, Warren Farm, Evesham, Basingstoke, Hampshire, England, reports that they have been actively interested in this development and put on the first public demonstration in 1958. This was followed by a much more sophisticated private showing in 1961 when the tractor worked for several hours with a mounted reversible harrow and subsequently completed the cultivation and drilling of a wheat crop with accuracy.

They think that a fully automatic system has a great future that can be achieved at an economic cost and they visualize one "supervisor" looking after three tractors working on different operations at different points on the farm. During times of peak demand for labor and machines, automatic tractors can operate round the clock and they do not need a break for meals or sleep and are undisturbed by an impenetrable English fog.

One session of the Agricultural Engineering Symposium to be held at the National College of Agricultural Engineering, Silsoe, Bedfordshire from September 11-14, 1967, and organized by the Institution of Agricultural Engineers, will be devoted to the automatic control of tractors and field machines and they hope that delegates from Nebraska and elsewhere in the United States will come along to discuss this fascinating and important subject.

Lenten Project at Saint John The Apostle

The Bishop of South Florida has given dispensation to the Congregation of Saint John the Apostle to have a series of "House Eucharist" during the season of Lent. This is a part of the updating and re-natal Liturgical Reforms presently being considered by the Episcopal Church. Father Thumpp, pastor of Saint John has been appointed to the Liturgical Commission of the Diocese.

In the picture you see Mr. Harold Zumpf and Mr. Floyd Collingsworth presenting the gifts of wine and water to be consecrated into the Eucharistic elements. This Liturgy differs from the present four hundred year old form in that it makes much more allowance for lay participation and in that the priest faces the congregation in offering the sacrifice.

The series have been very well attended in the homes of various members of the congregation. Each is followed by a meditation and fellowship.

Lauderdale Club

Hears L. E. Will

Lawrence E. Will, local Everglades historian, was a recent guest speaker at the Lauderdale Women's Club, the occasion being an "Author's Luncheon" in the club house on February 10th. Speakers introduced by the president Mrs. George Tucker were Mrs. E. J. Chamberlain, author of children's books, August Burghard and Philip Welding, long time residents of that city, who authored "Checkered Sunshine" a history of Ft. Lauderdale, Buck Dawson "A Civil War Artist at the Front," and Peter Swincoe of the Bahamas, who reviewed "Our Island Doctor" by Evan W. Cottman.

Lawrence Will, in his usual humorous style, portrayed the environment and activities of the first women to live on Lake Okeechobee, the wives of the hunters and the cattlemen. Mentioned were Lula Curry who came to the lake in 1897 and who remained for 50 years. Mrs. V. H. Wagner of Kreamer Island who was there for eighteen months before setting eyes on another woman, white or Indian, Gertrude Winne who came to Torry Island in January 1913 and who now lives in Belle Glade. Florence Lindorse, mother of Ed Jensen, Palmetto's postmaster and Earl A. Lindorse of Belle Glade, Gertrude O'Neal, mother of Mrs. Ivan Van Horn, and the first woman to live on Ritta Island, Sue Marshall of Forked River and other ladies of the author's acquaintance.

The noon luncheon was well attended, there being 150 paid admissions.

If you're going to get gelatin, chili until it's slightly hot, then unseasoned white eggs, which are not as good as the new ones, and then so it chills evenly.

The summer program will consist of daily instruction of students in mathematics and one hour in earth science. The students will also attend lectures given by members of the FSU faculty in science, mathematics and the humanities.

Students can obtain nomination forms and additional information about the program by contacting Dr. E. T. Denmark at Room 219 Education Building, Tallahassee, or from their high school principal or mathematics counselor.

Meditaciones Cristianas.

Por el Rev. Cesar M. Benitez.

JEHOVA ES MI PASTOR

El Salmo 23 ha dado inspiración y valor a millones de personas en los campos de batalla, hospitales, hogares y diversos lugares más. Debe memorizarse, solo tiene 118 palabras. Su poder no está en la memorización pero si en pensar las ideas espirituales que contiene.

El poder de este Salmo está en el factor que representa una fe positiva que nos ayuda afrontar la vida.

OREMOS POR CUBA

Una fuerza diabólica ofrece la vida de un pueblo que amamos y no esta lejos de nosotros ni física y espiritualmente. La oración de fe puede mucho, esa fe hermana y amigó tiene que estar respaldada por una vida cristiana de amor y de frutos dignos de arrepentimiento. No podemos armar como el pagallo mecánicamente sin sentimientos ni acción diaria, una oración así no pasa del cielo.

Algun día Cuba será libre donde todas las libertades incluyendo la religiosa existan en aquella preciosa isla. Pero ahora y sus notorios pedimos ser libres espiritualmente, de odios, de celos, de mentiras en fin de todo pecado.

Que este período de cuarenta (40 días) años de la crucifixión sea de verdadero progreso en la vida cristiana.

Children's 'Shot' Records A Must

Evanson, Ill. (WMNS) — When did six-year-old Mary have her last diphtheria-tetanus-whoping cough shot? And her 10-year-old brother his tuberculosis test? And the baby her last polio vaccine? As any married parent knows, it's virtually impossible to keep children's immunization records straight without writing them down.

Recognizing how important it is that parents have this information readily available, the American Academy of Pediatrics recently sent 10,000 of its pediatrician-members a letter-sized plastic cards which can create order out of "shot" chaos. Called a Personal Immunization Record, the card lists such items as blood group, RH factor, significant sensitivities. It also breaks down by age all the immunizations a child should receive, with a space for the date next to each. A parent who carries one such card for each child can check readily on who needs what and when — and can prevent disaster from striking. Cards can be obtained from pediatricians, an Academy spokesman told Women's Medical News Service.

Japanese & Korean Missionary Visiting Church Of Nazarene

REV. J. H. SEXTON,
Pastor

The Rev. John H. Sexton, minister at the Belle Glade Church of the Nazarene, 16 N. W. Ave. D, announces a revival will be held at the church on March 5 through March 12.

Rev. W. F. Miller, a native of Oklahoma, who has spent several years in Japan and Korea, will be the guest speaker. Rev. Miller has traveled between 40,000 and 50,000 miles in these countries, having a special permit from the Japanese Government. He is acquainted with Japanese life as few Americans are.

As supervisor of a large band of Japanese Christians from the various denominations in Japan, they assisted in placing the Gospel of John printed in the native language, in 10,300,000, homes of Japan, taking five years to complete the work.

REV. W. F. MILLER,
Missionary

Rev. Miller walked 5,600 miles in one year in the interior of Japan, lived like the natives, holding open-air services where permitted, resulting in over 10,000 conversions. While thus engaged he experienced many thrilling adventures, being attacked by a mob, arrested by the police and placed in jail; a soldier attacking him with a sword on a lonely island twenty miles from the mainland. All these and many other thrilling incidents he will relate during his speaking tour here.

Monday night will be set aside as Missionary Night. The subject will be "Send Japan Through the eyes of a Missionary."

Rev. Sexton cordially invites anyone wishing to attend to come out hear these services and the outstanding missionary speaker.

Brethren Volunteers Tell Of Their Training Program

The Cantonment Circle of First Baptist Church, met at the home of Mrs. Lester Averill on Feb. 21.

Several guests were present including W. M. S. President, Mrs. Eleanor Schlechter, Mrs. Montine Holton, Mrs. Carolyn Walls, and Mrs. Marilyn Moore.

The three guest speakers were Mrs. Ellen Weaver, Mrs. Barbara Weaver and Miss Cheryl Wolfkill. With the aid of slides the three speakers explained their program which has its center in Maryland. The Brethren Volunteer Service has on the job training for their students and three classes of approximately 50 to 60 people a year. They do volunteer work in institutions, migrant areas and inter-city areas throughout their training area.

Slides were shown of the buildings in Maryland devoted entirely to the sorting and preparation for shipping of used clothing for the needy and Medical drugs which are donated by various drug firms.

This team, which includes two couples and a single girl chose to come to Osceola Center and work at the nursery. They showed many interesting slides of their work here.

They are for several children of migrant or low economic level parents during the day while parents work. They are entirely volunteer workers interested in helping needy people and their only payment is $10 monthly.

In this competitive money seeking time in which we are living, it would do most of us good to think of this unselfishness and total dedication to the helping of others, which these people and the many missionaries and volunteer workers all over our land, exhibit around us daily.

What have you done recently to help your fellow man?

SERVING GOD CAN BE REWARDING FOR YOUTH

The Young People's Choir of New Bethel Baptist Church directed by James L. Munroe assisted by Mrs. Elma Mae James and under the pastordship of Rev. O. D. Williams have found that Singing for God on Sunday and serving his fellowman in many ways including one specific way of visiting the hospitals each Sunday to cheer the shut-ins is rewarding. This group of 50 boys and girls render service each second and fourth Sunday a month at 10:45 at the church.

Johnny Edward Ellison, chairman of special activity committee and vice president of the choir said much good can come from our youth if they have something to do. He reminded the choir that an idle mind is a devil's workshop, but a busy mind is a working mind. During the last meeting the vice-president and President Jimmy Pinazee brought out to the choir that they must work together as a team. They also found out that it was good to give their best to God, he would do the rest.

The director feels this is one way to help youngsters find themselves by working on projects together for the hospital and raising funds for trips, picnics and etc.

This group of young people has rendered free service in Melbourne, and Immokalee. The group has been invited to Nassau, Grand Bahamas, which they feel is quite an honor for the city of Belle Glade, the church and young people.

Singing is not the only means of service, but the young people are taught Do's and Don'ts in becoming good citizens as well as young adults. The director said that through their accomplishments it is hoped that it may have helped and inspired other people to do the same. He stated it is the wish that those teaching will also help the young people achieve much greater heights in life. The aide of parents is solicited in this project.

"A new addition and inspiration is our musician, Robert Hill, formerly of Chicago, Illinois, who gives his time and efforts by traveling from Ft. Lauderdale each week to help with our youngsters," Munroe said. "We appreciate him and ask God's blessing on him."

All youths that are not already connected with some church will find themselves welcome to join and worship with this group at New Bethel Baptist Church.

Students of the Week

Wendell Wells

"Mr. Senior" and "Lord Byron" of the senior class are more commonly known to his fellow classmates as Wendell Wells.

Wendell's talent to write poetry & his gentlemanly ways gave him this title.

At the present time he is an active member of the Interact Club. Previously he has been a member of the art club. Football has taken up most of his time since his junior year. Guard and linebacker are the two positions which he plays. Wendell is a good prospect this year for baseball and track.

During his junior year he was on both teams. He is looking forward to participating in these two sports this year.

He is the oldest child in a family of three sisters and one brother. Even though he does not drive a car of his own to school, a Gran-Sport, black-and-white Buick would be his choice. Hunting and sports take up quite a lot of Wendell's spare time.

"The usual reply someone gets after making a statement to him is 'Are you kidding?'"

English teachers are his pet peeve; however, literature is his favorite subject. Wendell especially enjoys history when Mr. Browning is teaching the course. A teacher commented on Wendell's ability to do good work, but said he needs to be pushed. When he is not occupied with school and baseball, he spends his spare time "trying to make the girls happy."

Wendell plans to attend Palm Beach Junior College and later the University of Florida. He is interested in becoming a computer technician.

Janet Chamblee

Whenever there is a football or basketball game, Janet Elaine Chamblee is there anxiously awaiting game time.

Janet was chosen as a sponsor at the Belle Glade-Pahokee football game. "This was an honor I will always remember," Janet said.

Janet was a member of Future Teachers in her junior year. She taught as a cadet in the second grade at Belle Glade Elementary under Mrs. Ruth Burkett once a week for a six-week period.

Bookkeeping and Shortland are Janet's favorite subjects. She plans to attend Delta State College in Cleveland, Mississippi, and major in elementary education or business.

Born in Belle Glade, Janet has two older brothers and one older sister. Her sister is the wife of Mr. Fred Stevens, band director. She works part time at "Golden Charm Jewelers."

Janet enjoys sewing and likes listening to "Kinda Drag" by the Buckinghams. She likes good movies on T. V. or at a theatre.

Janet drives a '66 marina blue Corvair. Her favorite colors are blue and green.

During the summer, Janet visits relatives in South Carolina. Broiled steak is Janet's favorite food. Her favorite saying is "You're nifty."

Love Is Life

Trees that possess no leaves, and forests with no green mass.

A world without pure love, unlike an outlived past.

Known to remember such sweetness, such bounteous fully

To be bled into darkness, dust, and mark human cruelty.

Winds no longer cool, but hard the sun burns on.

The tides rise all on a bald head, the fishes have moved yon.

What place does man murder now, maybe light years in the sky.

Earth's dead man's face so mimed out and scarred, dormant lies.

Man's depletion of nature's kind and loving kiss did never cease.

Such a strange and remorseful dream come true, they must have left.

This is and has been no dream, for no man lives on here.

He has torn out his heart, his loving earth, no man has slept here.

An invention of man's will, not of God's it was, that made this dream.

Yet God's will has prevailed, earth is no longer a star that gleams.

Maybe man has come out of this dull death and found new power in God.

Maybe he has bred, and perfected the gift of love, given by God.

Alison Cann Wins Finalists Honors

Alison Cann was named as a finalist in the Regional Scholastic Art Show held in Miami. Her entry was an oil painting of a bouquet of flowers.

Of the 3,000 entries submitted for showing in Burdine's, only 500 were used. There were 128 finalists from the 400 pieces shown. Six finalists will be chosen to travel to New York for the National contest.

Netters Drop Jupiter

The tennis team traveled to Jupiter last Thursday to compete in their second conference game of the season. The girls took the match with all girls winning singles and doubles. The boys weren't so fortunate, however, and dropped their match 6-1, with only the No. 1 doubles, consisting of Herb Giese and Frank Rodriguez, winning their set.

Coach Trego, tennis coach, was happy over the returns. "I'm proud of the team. If only the boys would practice more," he said.

Today the team hosts Forest Hill in a non-conference match.

Space Travel Assembly Presented

An entertaining and interesting demonstration covering the new and exciting field of Space Travel was presented by Neil R. Kelper on Monday during third period.

The assembly, "Wonders of Outer Space," combined fun, fact, and fancy to provide an amazing scientific program which projected into the realm of the future. Each display was explained, emphasizing that truth is stronger than fiction. This program was absolutely scientific but was planned to be a unique and vital demonstration.

This assembly was one of the many programs planned for the '66-'67 school year by the Student Council.

Play, "High Window" To Be Given By LSHS Dramatics Club

The Dramatics Club is presenting an action packed, suspenseful one-act melodrama, entitled, "High Window." High Window combines a variety of characterization with dramatic climaxes. It's a play of mood and potent emotional impact. It promises to become audiences out of their seats. Performers include: Gloria Butts, Emily Whithorpe, an old lady in a wheel chair, Sharon Butt, Judith Wane, Emily's secretary and nurse. Gail Spencer, a curious newspaper reporter. Johnny Ellison, Walter Hodges, Emily's meek, myopic nephew. Lawrence Hightower — Emily's friend and legal adviser, who's camera shy. The play will be presented April 21.

LSH Wins 3 Matches; Two In Conference

Charles Haynes lead the Bobcats to an 83-72 upset over Kennedy Vikings. LSH jumped out to a 9 point lead in the first quarter and put the game out of reach. It was a man to man duel between Eric Hallback and Charles Haynes. Kennedy never did come within 4 points of the Bobcats with the terrific shooting of Charles Haynes, and the rebounding of Charles Walker. Haynes lead the Bobcats with 41 points and Hallback had 29 for the Vikings. With one victory under their belts, the Mighty Bobcats journeyed to Clewiston to play a non-conference game. The Bobcats were pummeled by the terrific shooting of Kilup Frenney with 20 points. LSH started off slow and it took the 'Cats until the second quarter to get hot. After the 1st quarter the 'Cats came back to win the game. The final score was 57-53.

Students Chosen For Citizenship, Achievements

This week the newspaper staff has chosen as student of the week Charles Lee Butts, Jr. for his outstanding citizenship. Charles is a very active member of the Student Council, and a member of the Dramatic Club. He has participated in several student activities such as acting in a school play in recognition of Fire Prevention Week and has diligently worked on the Student Council Clean-up Committee. He maintains a "B" average in all of his classes. He plans to continue to be active in school activities, maintain his average and go all out in sports.

Clanthia Carrigan has been chosen student of the week by the newspaper staff for her outstanding citizenship. Clanthia has maintained a B-plus average throughout her junior high school years. She is a member of the Freshmen class, student council representative for her homeroom class (9-2), member of the marching Bobcats of LSH, and a member of the Future Teachers of America. Clanthia aspires to be a doctor. After finishing high school she plans to attend Florida Atlantic University. Clanthia resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Carrigan at 817 S. W. Avenue B. She loves to attend extra-curricular activities. Her hobbies are playing the clarinet and sports in general.

Students Attend Teenage Meet

On Saturday, February 18, student representatives from Lake Shore Jr.-Sr. High School attended a teenage convention held in Palm Beach High Auditorium. Members attending were Barbara Finney, Lula Carrigan, John Ellison, Curtis Pierce and Mr. James Allen, sponsor. The purpose of this meeting was to approve or disapprove the "Teenage Code." This meeting was a continuation from the first meeting held at Temple Israel Religious School. The code was accepted as written with a few amendments to follow. It covers the four D's, "Drinking," "Driving," "Dating" and "Destruction." Helpful under each section were discussed in full. The Peninsula Motor Club, Girl Scout Council, and Maxine Hargrove being as tall as Rachel Harrell. All the seniors not GRADUATING IN JUNE??

Student Council Seeks Qualified Candidates

April is the month for student elections. During this time students will be running for the various offices of the Student Council. During this time the Student Council will be competing for class titles and for the glorious honor of being Miss Lake Shore High. How do you stack up, do you have the ability to hold the position of Student Council President? Remember Freshmen are also eligible to run for the office of Vice-President. Are your clerical abilities of that quality that you can serve in the demanding position of secretary of the Student Council? Have you any experience in bookkeeping? Are you good in mathematics? Are you very easy to catch on? If so, then, you shouldn't have any difficulty in filling the position of Student Council Treasurer. You stack up pretty good where looks are concerned? If your present classification is that of freshmen, sophomore, or junior then you should consider the possibility of running for any of the positions mentioned above.

Campus Highlights

The Student Council is working toward the development of more after school activities. Students from LSH participated in the passing of the teenage code. The track meet in Delray. The Bobcats won the last two games of the season when they defeated Clewiston and Murray of Stuart. A tennis match was played by Miss Duncan's in her hour Physical Education Class. The band is preparing for the District Band Festival to be held in March. Everyone is wondering what the theme of the 1967 From is. A letter of invitation for our school to participate in the State-wide Spelling Bee was received recently. Seniors aren't you glad the try-outs are over? The Senior Class Play is scheduled for April 21. The Senior Patrol went into action Monday. Maggie Fuller
